RAMSAY HEALTH CARE

Taking care of people is what we do best

Medical Services at Ashtead Hospital

Patients come to Ashtead Hospital for elective surgery to treat various conditions and problems in a range of specialties such as orthopaedics and gynaecology through to ophthalmology and general surgery.

We also treat patients who are ill, or recovering from illness, where their needs are for investigations, medication and nursing care rather than surgery. These patients are referred to as medical patients and comprise around 30% of all those who come to Ashtead Hospital.

> "My goal every day, for myself and my team, is that every single patient is treated with the care and compassion that I would expect for a member of my own family."
> Helen Sheppard - Ward Manager

What people say about Ashtead Hospital

Jennifer Harper-Jones, Slough

I would not hesitate to recommend this hospital to my friends."

Lesley Hulme, Leatherhead

"I am a local GP and have been very impressed with the prompt service and attention that patients have received both by the Consultant and on the ward at Ashtead Hospital.

Feedback that I have received from my patients has been that investigations have been promptly arranged and suitable management plans devised.

My patients have been very complimentary about their care and the respect and kindness that has been shown to them by Ashtead's Medical Team."

Local GP, Dorking

De-light: Children enjoying artificial snow fall in Stoneleigh Broadway

Deadlinepix EP81309

Light up

The crowds turned out to watch Stoneleigh Broadway light up for the festive season.

More than 1,200 people attended the street's Christmas lights switch-on, now in its second year, on Friday.

Visitors were treated to a variety of stalls, burgers, hot dogs and pulled pork, as well as a mini-funfair for children, as they enjoyed the celebration to mark the Broadway's Christmas decorations, miniature twinkling trees above the shops and a large Christmas tree outside Budgens.

Father Christmas in his grotto was particularly busy.

'LEAVE YOUR SON'

Brazilian mother forced to leave British son in the UK

EXCLUSIVE
by HARDEEP MATHARU
hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

A homeless single mother is in turmoil after the Government ordered her to move back to her native Brazil – forcing her to leave her young son who must remain in the UK.

Thaynara Castro, 24, has spent the majority of the past seven years living in Epsom, but after her relationship with her British partner broke down two years ago she and the couple's son, Ismael Menaa, three, became homeless and were placed in a hostel in Croydon, where she said they are still living.

Miss Castro said she applied to the Home Office for leave to remain in the country because her son, a British citizen of whom she has legal residency, cannot leave the UK for more than 28 days as his father lives here. But despite Miss Castro's solicitor insisting they sent the child's birth certificate, his passport and letters from his GP to the Home Office within the given deadline, the department said it did not receive them.

Officials said they were therefore "not satisfied" that Miss Castro was Ismael's biological mother, although they acknowledged their relationship was "genuine".

In a letter written by the Home Office on September 23 this year to Miss Castro, and seen by the Epsom Guardian, it said: "Your application for leave to remain in the UK has been refused and you no longer have any known basis to stay here.

"There is no right to appeal. Your case has been transferred to your local enforcement office. You must contact them by October 7 to discuss your departure.

"Should you fail to leave enforcement action will be taken against you."

Miss Castro, who is willing to take a DNA test to prove she is Ismael's mother, said the Home Office needed to find a "plausible excuse" to refuse her application.

She said: "The Government is getting rid of immigrants. But it's a British child that is not being looked after and isn't being fed. He's being thrown around from hostel to hostel.

"Everywhere we go doors are shut in our faces."

Miss Castro said she receives no benefits apart from child support and is barely making ends meet.

When approached by this newspaper, the Home Office denied it had told Miss Castro she had to leave the UK and said she is entitled to submit a new application.

Epsom's MP Chris Grayling said his office is aware of Miss Castro's case and has exchanged correspondence with the Home Office discussing it.

The golden gift of a guide dog

by HELOISE WOOD
hwood@london.newsquest.co.uk

This Christmas, the Epsom Guardian needs your help to transform the life of someone who has lost their sight.

Every day, another person in the UK goes blind – so, by Christmas Day, many more people will be affected.

However, through the use of a guide dog, they can regain the freedom, independence and confidence that has been destroyed.

That is why we are now delighted to announce that our 2013 Christmas appeal is for Guide Dogs – formerly known as the Guide Dogs for the Blind Association.

The waiting time for a guide dog is currently nine months.

It costs the charity £50,000 to breed and train the dogs, and every single one is entirely funded through charitable donations.

That is where you come in. We know how generous Epsom Guardian readers are and, this year, we are asking you to help us raise £50,000 to change the life of a blind person in the area.

Guide Dogs director of fundraising Jayne George said: "With the help of Epsom Guardian readers, we can give people with sight loss the chance to live life on their own terms and get out and about with freedom, confidence and independence."

❑ Text FIRSTXMAS to 70020 or visit guidedogs.org.uk/firstchristmas to donate £3. Cheques payable to "Guide Dogs" should be sent to: Epsom Guardian, 10th Floor, Quadrant House, the Quadrant, Sutton SM2 5AS.

TRUE GENT™
Gentleman's fashion and lifestyle brands together under one site

ADVERTISEMENT

True Gent is a one-stop online shop for quality, bespoke men's clothing, accessories, gifts and grooming products.

Founded by young Wandsworth entrepreneur David Archer, True Gent launched in October and now has 20 unique brands and over 600 products offering everything from sweaters and jackets to wallets and aftershave.

And customers seem to love it with its brand base growing by 40 per cent since launch and a continued growth in sales and visitor numbers to the site.

"Most men don't like shopping so it's giving them the opportunity to view quality products and brands that they wouldn't necessarily find on the high street, through a single site," said David. "What we are trying to create is a market place where you can buy multiple brands from a single check out."

True Gent works with brands which are up and coming, smaller retailers and more established brands, including Eden Park, The British Belt Company James Lynch and Archie Foal and Denis Boston which are both high end companies that stock the likes of Selfridges, and John Lewis.

"Everybody has busy lifestyles therefore True Gent aims to create an enjoyable and convenient site which allows customers an opportunity to buy what they need from across multiple men's product ranges through a single website."

True Gent has a presence on the main social media sites including Facebook and Twitter. Customers can sign up for a monthly newsletter which gives information on new stock and exclusive deals and offers.

Plans for Epsom Hospital after BSBV exit

The vision for Epsom Hospital following its exit from the controversial healthcare review aiming to axe its acute services was discussed with councillors on Monday.

Dr Claire Fuller, chairman of Surrey Downs Clinical Commissioning Group (SDCCG), and Epsom and St Helier Hospital Trust's chief executive Matthew Hopkins addressed Epsom Council's health liaison panel.

Dr Fuller explained in deciding to walk out on the Better Services Better Value (BSBV) review – after a secret ballot of Surrey Downs' GPs showed they overwhelming opposed proposals to remove Epsom's A&E, maternity and children's units – the CCG became the first one in the country to listen to its membership in such a way.

She said it is now focused on driving up clinical standards at the hospital through more integrated care, community services and monitoring at primary care level.

The aim is to keep people out of hospital.

Dr Fuller said: "We are going to support Epsom Hospital. Our relationship with the hospital is the closest it's ever been."

Mr Hopkins provided the panel with year-to-date figures for the trust's deficit, which currently stands £48,000 behind its projected figure of £3.9m. But the trust is £5.7m ahead in its projected income, at £206.8m.

When asked about how complications surrounding St Helier's continued inclusion in the BSBV review would be resolved and whether the two hospitals would demerge, Mr Hopkins said it was difficult to speculate.

He added: "In relative terms we are actually doing rather well. We believe if we continue with the way we have run the organisation and see an improvement each year, there might now be a path to get ourselves out of the red and into the black.

"It takes a process of persuasion to those who were very clear they don't see a future for these hospitals in the long-term.

"The question is not 'who will Epsom Hospital partner with?' but do people support the existing partnership?

"If we are in a situation where there are significant proposals for change at St Helier we will have to think about what they will mean about services at Epsom Hospital."

Bus hits teenager

A 13-year-old girl was taken to hospital after being hit by a bus.

The accident happened in Woodcote Green Road, Epsom, at 8.15am on Monday.

A Surrey Police spokeswoman said the girl was taken to St Helier Hospital for treatment, but her injuries are not believed to be life-threatening nor life-changing.

A South East Coast Ambulance Service spokesman said four ambulances and one air ambulance attended the scene. The girl was fully conscious when taken by road to hospital after suffering chest and arm pain. Road closures were put in place while emergency crews attended the scene and an initial collision investigation was carried out. They were lifted at 9am.

Anyone who witnessed the collision or who has information should call the police on 101 quoting reference P13366666.

Services ranked high

More than half the patients who have reviewed Epsom Hospital on an NHS Tripadvisor-style website have awarded it the highest rating.

The Care Connect website was set up in August to allow patients to review the care and service provided at their hospital, comment and score it out of five stars. To date, the average rating for Epsom Hospital is four stars. Of the 29 reviews, 17 were five star, while only two were one star. One review did not contain a rating.

Top marks reviewer Emma Gillett said: "Very professional staff, worked hard in a very busy department. Staff stretched at times and dealt well at these times. A very big thank you to the delivery midwife and the community midwife."

One of the one-star ratings raised concerns about a "lack of hydration, feeding and basic hygiene". Members of staff have responded to comments raising issues.

Crazy cake: Gabriela Eddolls at Lakeland Deadlinepix EP81261

Cakery for Christmas

A gravity-defying cake went under the hammer and raised £75 for charity.

Gabriela Eddolls, of West Hill Avenue, Epsom, auctioned the special cake, featuring a milk jug appearing to pour into a bowl surrounded by mice in Christmas hats, at the Lakeland store in Epsom on Sunday, December 1.

The 36-year-old, who runs Cake Boudoir from home, held the event to raise money for the Antenatal Results and Choices (ARC) charity, which helps expectant and bereaved parents, and supported her when she lost her daughter three years ago.

Ms Eddolls constructed the creative cake during a two-day course and sweet-tooths could place their bids via her Facebook page.

A happy knitmas for the whole family

A great-grandmother from Banstead has knitted several generations of her family a jumper in time for Christmas.

Doreen Gover, 78, has devoted the past year to knitting 28 red festive jumpers, with reindeer and snowman designs, for three generations of her family including their partners and Cookie, the family dog.

Son-in-law James Spoors, 45, from Stoneleigh, said: "It all started in October last year. She knitted one for my wife and I wanted one, so she knitted it."

The couple posed for a Christmas card photo in their jumpers, which prompted other family members to send in their requests.

After receiving their jumpers in the winter months, the majority of the family met up and posed in their jumpers and are pleased with the efforts made by their great-grandmother.

Mr Spoors said: "It's a lot of time and effort. She's doing really well."

Mrs Gover started knitting the requested jumpers in January this year and has completed a jumper every two weeks. She even knitted a bib for the newest addition to her large brood, her great-grandson.

Mr Spoors added: "You'd just hear the clicking of her needles when she was doing them. She's even knitting more at the moment, trying to get them knocked out for Christmas."

Boy saves himself in watery tumble

by ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

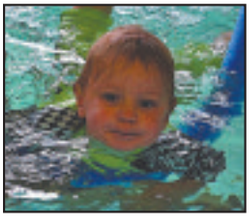
Swimming skills taught from birth helped save a toddler who tumbled into a pool fully clothed during a family holiday.

Cody Callard-Williams, three, plunged into 2m-deep water while playing with a pretend fishing rod at his grandparents' home in South Africa in October.

Amazingly the youngster, from Noble Park in Epsom, was able to not only remain afloat, but swim to the edge of the pool, despite being fully clothed.

His frightened mother Kerry, 41, said she ran over to jump in and save her son, but he had already managed to swim up to the surface.

She said: "It was a terrifying moment; fortunately I was there when it happened but amazingly Cody acted on what he had learned in his baby swimming lessons, kicked himself to the surface and put his arm out to hold the side so that I could grab him up to safety.



Brave: Cody Callard-Williams

"It was very scary for me at the time but Cody was completely calm and unfazed by the whole experience."

Cody learned to swim when just five months old during swimming lessons in Kingston and now has lessons in Twickenham.

Mrs Callard-Williams said: "I was relieved he had the sense to kick himself to the surface. The fact he remembered to do that, even though he had a fright, was reassuring."

She said it was always imperative Cody learned to swim because his grandparents have a swimming pool.

She said: "For us it was one of the things that was not negotiable. He had to have swimming lessons from an early age. I'm 100 per cent glad we stuck through it even when he went through water wobbles."

Tinker Bell: Yasmin Craig

Flying fun for fairy girl

A six-year-old girl became a real flying fairy when she was filmed for her role as Tinker Bell in this year's Christmas panto.

Yasmin Craig, from Ashtead, was picked to play the famous fairy in Peter Pan after seeing off 50 other hopefuls.

The Epsom Playhouse's graphics team will integrate the film into the pantomine, which opens on December 13.

Action: The Chantilly Fillies and, inset, the notice EP81068

Horses nicknamed the Chantilly Fillies are set to be evicted by the Government.

The Department of Health (DoH) has issued what is in effect an eviction notice to a trio of horses living on disused land in Chantilly Way, Epsom.

The notices were first posted in September, and were reissued last week, saying a failure to comply could result in the horses being impounded.

Residents have raised concerns since the first horse appeared in the field after the Epsom Derby in 2012.

A DoH spokesman said another notice went up recently, but it is understood that notices had previously been removed.

He said: "We are taking action to secure the removal of the horses. We are hoping to ensure that persons unnamed remove the horses and, if not, we will consider other options, such as impounding."

If the notices are ignored, he said the DoH proposed to take legal action to obtain order for possession of the land.

The area was formerly part of the Epsom cluster of psychiatric hospitals and it was retained by the Government to allow the construction of Chantilly Way.

The RSPCA has always maintained its officers cannot remove the horses just because they are on their own.

A RSPCA spokeswoman said: "We have been monitoring them to ensure their welfare is looked after for some time."

Housing estate plan threatens greenbelt

by ALICE FOSTER
alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

Greenbelt sites have been earmarked to potentially become huge housing estates holding up to 500 homes.

Mole Valley District Council (MVDC) has assessed 70 sites suggested by developers and landowners across the district in an effort to build homes for the future.

The sites have the capacity for about 3,000 homes, but the council only needs land for about 1,300 new homes to meet housing targets.

These include eight greenbelt sites surrounding Leatherhead. Residents will be asked what land should be removed from the greenbelt if the council's executive gives the consultation the green light on December 17.

On Tuesday, councillors recommended the consultation run from January 10 to March 7.

Councillor John Northcott, portfolio holder for planning, said: "It's only because we cannot currently identify sufficient brownfield sites that we are having to contemplate taking land out of the greenbelt."

Among eight proposed greenbelt sites around Leatherhead, there are two grassland sites that could accommodate an estimated 245 homes off Randalls Road.

The proposal comes after planning permission was granted to build 70 homes in a nearby field in Randalls Road.

There is also a controversial plan to build 500 homes on Barnett Wood Lane allotments and Merton College land by the Leatherhead bypass.

Councillor Bridget Lewis-Carr said: "North Leatherhead has got enough homes already. It's got so many people and so much traffic."

The sites earmarked by developers

Location	Use	Size	Est capacity
5 to 33 Randalls Road	Grazed by horses and cattle	15 acres	200 homes
36 and 69 Randalls Road	Grassland with young trees	3.5 acres	45 homes
Off the Fairway	Grazed by horses	9 acres	116 homes
West of Oxshott Road	Former nursery	4.5 acres	60 homes
Kingston Road	Former police station	0.75 acres	38 flats
Station Road	Sorting office and vehicle depot	1 acre	10-120 units
Site by Leatherhead bypass	Allotments and Merton College land	32.5 acres	500 homes
South of Crestawood	Grass and dilapidated stable	1.5 acres	4-8 homes
South of Yarm Way	Parkland with Downside Manor	14 acres	200-250 homes
South of Windmill Drive	Pasture	12.5 acres	200-250 homes

Review snub for forum

A neighbourhood forum that embarked on a greenbelt boundary review has been told only the council can redraw boundaries.

Ashtead Community Vision (ACV) will have to submit its findings to Mole Valley District Council for consideration as part of the council's review.

Andy Ellis, chairman of ACV, said: "The situation used to be neighbourhood forums such as ourselves were given the authority to do the greenbelt review for our areas.

"The Government minister in the past month or so said you can't do that, and only the district council can change the greenbelt boundary.

"We can advise Mole Valley, but it is their decision. The process will not finish until August 2015. It's a delay."

ACV was set up in response to the Localism Act 2012, in order to give the community the chance to shape future development by producing the village's neighbourhood development plan.

Commissioner's beat:

Surrey's police and crime champion, Kevin Hurley, speaks his mind...

Thursday, November 15, marked a year since my election as Surrey's first police and crime commissioner.

Throughout that first 12 months, I have been impressed by the motivation and commitment of Surrey police officers and staff, council officers, politicians and businesspeople to try to improve our sense of safety.

Looking ahead to the next year, I am determined to keep doing everything in my power to make life harder for the criminals that prey on the innocent and the vulnerable.

That means continuing to support the chief constable and Surrey Police in delivering the zero tolerance policing the public expect.

It means doing more to seize the assets of criminals and yobs to reinvest in frontline policing.

It means working hard to press the Government for better funding for Surrey Police to give our police the resources they need to crack down on crime.

I will be continuing with my focus on improving things for victims of crime as their cases pass from the police to the Crown Prosecution Service to the courts.

The victim must come first at every stage in the criminal justice process.

All too often that point is forgotten.

I will also be pressing ahead, with borough, district and county councils, with plans to form joint enforcement teams of police and council officers, able to bring all of the laws at the disposal of the authorities in Surrey to bear against those who spoil our communities with their antisocial and criminal behaviour.

My thanks go to everyone I have had the opportunity to work with and talk to over the past year.

'Mate, I've been stabbed' screamed man after attack

by HARDEEP MATHARU and ALICE FOSTER

hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

A young man was stabbed in the chest and both thighs in broad daylight in Epsom town centre.

Carlos Ferreira, 24, from Epsom, was taken to St George's Hospital, in Tooting, after sustaining the injuries following an incident outside Santander in Epsom High Street at 3.45pm last Wednesday, November 27.

He managed to flee into nearby Derby Square, where a member of the public called for an ambulance.

Scene: The area is cordoned off EP81286

Paramedics arrived and administered first aid to Mr Ferreira. His wounds were serious, but not life-threatening, and a spokesman for South East Coast Ambulance Service said he was fully conscious en route to hospital.

Steve Lucas, building manager at the Ebbisham Centre, in Derby Square, said: "The guy ran into the square as I was outside. He was screaming at me 'Mate, I've been stabbed'."

A 16-year-old boy from Thornton Heath has been charged with wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, possessing a kitchen knife in public, and possessing 25 bags of cannabis with the intent to supply.

He will appear at Guildford Crown Court on December 20.

Another 16-year-old was also arrested in connection with the incident and has been released on police bail.

Ground-breaking role for director

One woman will help to lead Surrey County Council and Mole Valley District Council in a ground-breaking double leadership role.

On Tuesday, Mole Valley councillors agreed to appoint the county council's strategic director Yvonne Rees as chief executive of the district council.

Ms Rees took up the post on an interim basis 15 months ago and she will be appointed on a permanent basis in April – believed to be the first time a county council director has also taken the post of chief executive at district level.

Arrests over stab attack

Another four teenagers have been arrested on suspicion of attempted murder after a 15-year-old boy was stabbed in Ewell.

The arrests came following the execution of five warrants in Chessington on Friday as part of the Operation Severn investigation into the attack, which happened at 7.30pm on Monday, November 11, in the Watersedge area of Ewell.

The teenagers, all boys aged between 14 and 17, were arrested on suspicion of attempted murder. They have been released on bail until March 13 while the investigation continues.

Eleven other men, who were arrested shortly after the attack, are also on bail in connection with the incident.

Surrey Police have launched a website where people can upload images or footage of the incident. Visit bitly.com/OpSevern.

Crimestoppers is offering a £1,000 reward for anyone who provides information anonymously that leads to the arrest and charge of at least one person in connection with the incident. Information passed to the police will not qualify.

Anyone with information can call police on 101 quoting reference EP/13/4709, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Revised home plan still fails to please

Residents angry about plans to build a huge housing complex on fields outside Ewell have rejected a compromise from developers.

Despite North East Surrey College of Technology (Nescot) removing plans for a 600-room student block from their proposals for land currently used for grazing animals in Reigate Way, residents have maintained their staunch opposition to the palns.

Worries about traffic and the strain on infrastructure were raised during a heated meeting on November 28.

by ALICE FOSTER
alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

The revised proposal comprises plans for 94 homes and a retirement village.

Stuart Seymour, who lives opposite the site, said: "If we have the best part of 100 houses, we are going to have a lot more cars. It is going to be gridlock, unfortunately."

Helen Gillespie, who went to a public exhibition of the plans at the college, said there was nobody present to answer her questions and no mention of how many homes would be affordable.

Earmarked: The disputed site outside Ewell

She said: "What expansion measures have been taken to ensure that there will be enough doctors' surgery spaces, school places, daycare and childcare spaces, not to mention beds in hospitals? I suspect very little."

A Nescot spokeswoman said: "They have made their feelings felt. We answered as many questions as possible and took on board some suggestions made.

"What residents have to understand is that is a piece of development land. The college is trying to do the best it can."

Nescot is under pressure to push ahead with the development in order to fund renovations to its academic campus.

It has secured a Government grant for part of the renovations on the condition that all improvement works are completed by September 2015.

See the plans at Nescot 10am to 8pm from Monday to Thursday and 10am to 5pm on Friday until December 12.

Smashed: The restaurant was closed at the time

Driver lands in a hot spot

This was the dramatic scene at a curry house in Tadworth on Friday when a motorist ploughed into the front of the Burgh Head Tandoori restaurant.

It is understood the car swerved into the eatery after hitting the brakes near traffic lights at 3pm.

No diners or staff were injured during the incident as the restaurant only opens in the evenings.

A Surrey Police spokesman said: "A blue Renault Clio left the road and collided with the front of a business address, smashing a front window.

"The building was checked, but the collision did not cause any structural damage and there were no reports of any injuries. The vehicle was recovered and the road fully reopened shortly after 6pm."

Ready for business in spite of first day raid

by HARDEEP MATHARU
hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

A community food store was raided on the day it opened for business – just 24 hours before its ceremonial ribbon was officially cut by Banstead's MP.

Budgens, in Walton Street, in Walton-on-the-Hill, Tadworth, was targeted on Thursday, November 28, between 11pm and 11.30pm and alcohol from the store was stolen – the same day it opened for business.

But undamaged and undeterred, the store opened as usual the next day for a ceremony marking its official opening.

Dan Rapson, 32, store manager, said: "The burglary was very upsetting for myself and all of my colleagues here.

"But it did not dampen spirits for the official opening at all. In this sort of industry you can't stand still, you have to move on. No one day is the same.

"I'll leave it down to the police. They have collected all the evidence. We don't speak about it now. We're just getting on with our jobs."

Crispin Blunt MP cut the store's ribbon and members of the local football, athletics and pony clubs all turned out on Saturday morning.

Staying positive: Store manager Dan Rapson, centre, with Crispin Blunt MP and Jeana Kitchener of Mid Surrey pony club, plus Elizabeth Kitchener on Champ and Helena Kitchener on Jake. Deadlinepix EP81203

Mr Rapson said the store, which has received "100 per cent positive feedback from customers", will stock many local products – including eggs from a local chicken farm.

He added: "This area has not had anything like this establishment for a number of years. Rather than people having to go to other supermarkets out of the area, they can shop here, which is really positive."

PC Helen Simon, investigating the burglary, said: "I would appeal to anyone who saw anything suspicious in the area to contact officers with information, no matter how small or irrelevant you may feel this is. It could prove vital to our investigation."

Anyone with information can call the police on 101, quoting reference 45130002532, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

A cracker of a ceremony

The newest addition to Epsom's high street has been unveiled.

A Cargo store, next to Robert Dyas, was officially opened on Thursday by the mayor, Councillor Colin Taylor, pictured right.

To commemorate the opening, branch staff pulled a giant Christmas cracker, filled with freebies for the public. People were then invited to join a cracker-making master class.

Stars at the fair

Former cricketer Phil Tufnell, Father Christmas and Peppa Pig appeared at a festive fair on November 23.

TV personality Tufnell, who is vice-president of the Children's Trust, visited the fair, which raised about £16,000 for the charity.

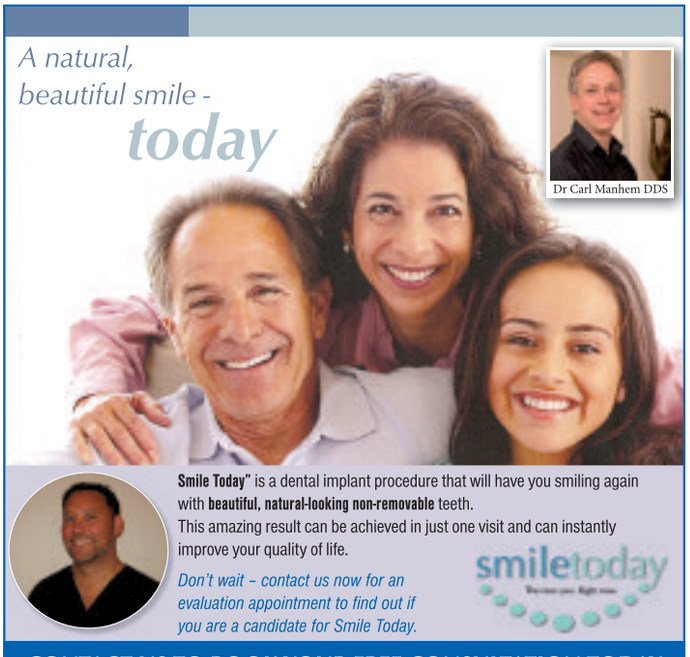
More than 2,000 people attended the event, which featured an ice rink and grotto, at the Tadworth Court in Tadworth.

The Children's Trust is a leading charity for children with brain injury.

All clear

Police and fire crews were called to a shop on Church Lane, Headley, at 1.30pm on Friday, after a suspicious package was found there.

Specialist officers tested the substance in the package, which was found to be non-hazardous.



Row over scrolls to honour war heroes

by ALICE FOSTER
alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

WWI: Roll of honour and below, William Maynard

The church at the centre of a row over the display of military scrolls of honour has invited people to a meeting over how to remember the war dead.

St Barnabas, in Temple Road, Epsom, has announced the meeting after a local historian and the relatives of a dead soldier called for the reinstatement of two scrolls stored at Surrey History Centre for the past 20 years.

The Rev Sue Bull, speaking on behalf of the church council, said: "I would like to say how much the church welcomes the debate about the scroll of honour and is delighted to see the level of interest in the issue.

"Remembering the fallen has always been important to our church and, of course, it is particularly topical now as we prepare as a nation to remember the anniversary of the beginning of the Great War.

"With this in mind we would like to invite anyone interested to an open meeting in the new year to discuss together how we may best remember those who gave their lives for this community, and those whose lives were marred by physical or mental illness because of the conflict. This will, of course, include discussion about the scroll."

Clive Gilbert, a local historian who discovered the scrolls in the history centre's archives, has been leading the call for their restoration, said: "At least they are talking about it so that is good. I will only be pleased if the rolls of honour are reinstated in some way or other."

Helen Lawrence, 81, from Watersedge, West Ewell, is the granddaughter of Sergeant William John Maynard, who is named on the roll of honour dedicated to dead from the Great War.

Mrs Lawrence said: "I would go to the meeting when the time comes. But you shouldn't have to have a meeting, it should be put back. I think it's disgusting. It is coming up to 100 years next year and the scrolls should be put back."

Her grandfather married at Christ Church in Epsom Common and was killed at Ypres in WWI.

Grave of talented painter

Artist: Phyllis Chipperfield is buried in Epsom Cemetery

The beautifully decorated scrolls of honour were created by artist Phyllis Chipperfield.

Miss Chipperfield, born in 1887 the daughter of a doctor, grew up in Oxfordshire before the family moved to south London at the turn of the 20th century. The first evidence of her talent as a painter comes from records of her exhibiting two watercolours paintings at the Royal Academy of Arts Exhibition in 1911.

It is not known why she was commissioned to produce the Great War remembrance scroll for St Barnabas Church, but she went on to produce several other watercolours before her untimely death aged 50. She is buried with her parents in Epsom Cemetery.

Choir leader set to retire

A musical director who took a male voice choir from strength to strength is retiring after two decades in charge.

Neil MacKay, of the Epsom Male Voice Choir, said: "I studied music at school and I have been in choirs since I was about six years old. I first conducted at the age of 16."

While other teenagers were playing air guitar to the Rolling Stones, Mr MacKay, who is originally from Aberdeen, said he was probably conducting along to a recording of Beethoven.

He will remain part of the choir, but expects to hand over his duties as musical director early in the new year.

He said: "It is sad in a lot of ways, but it is probably the right thing to do. I have been conscious over the last year that I have not been able to put in as much as I could."

Over the years the choir has performed with Russian and US military bands as well as other male voice choirs from around the country.

Malcolm Brown, chairman of the choir, said: "Once Neil arrived, the choir never looked back, not just in terms of numbers, but also the music and where we performed. The high points of the choir are under Neil. It owes him a great debt for taking us to new heights. He put the choir on the map."

Getting on board: Sutton Grammar School pupils back our Zone 6 campaign

by HARDEEP MATHARU
hmatharu@london.newsquest.co.uk

Schoolboys inspired by the Epsom Guardian's own Zone 6 campaign have launched a project to bring the Oyster card to Epsom.

Sutton Grammar School students Ben Smith, Joe Goodman, Elliot Keen and Jamie Perkins, all 15, and James Chambers, 16, decided to show their support for getting Epsom station into a London travel zone for a year 11 citizenship project.

The pupils, from Epsom, Sutton and Mitcham, were asked to pick a topic where they could make a difference in the community.

Ben said: "We read about the Epsom Guardian's Zone 6 for Epsom campaign and we wanted to raise more awareness about the issue and give it some more support. It would be far more convenient as it is annoying you have to get a ticket to Epsom from Sutton station. Epsom is closer to London than Epsom Downs, which is in Zone 6. Having it in Zone 6 would also increase tourism."

The boys have started an online petition for their project, Oyster for Epsom, as well as a Facebook page and have put up posters around school.

In May, Transport Minister Norman Baker gave Southern, which has the franchise to run services through Epsom, and South West Trains, which also operates trains through the station, the green light to start talks about getting Epsom into Zone 6, following pressure from the Epsom Guardian.

MP Chris Grayling, who has supported this newspaper's campaign for the change since it was launched in May 2012, has had meetings with both companies this year and said they showed a "genuine willingness" to get Epsom into a London zone. But he has said the cost to the train operators, as a result of the change, is still an issue.

Transport for London has previously said it has no objections to Epsom becoming part of Zone 6, but any changes would need to be led by Southern.

Ben said the Oyster for Epsom project would continue for "as long as we can do it".

Brake fluid is aphrodisiac for cable-chewing foxes

I sympathise totally with the sheer frustration and worry our urban foxes cause.

Eight years ago we had a real epidemic of foxes chewing through brake cables in Timbercroft.

My son had started a new job, with a new van. On leaving the drive he found, to his horror, no brakes.

As it had been extremely cold, near to zero, we thought there had been a fault with the brake cable on the van.

A replacement van was sourced while the other was being repaired.

Next morning, the same thing. That is when we reported it as a crime to police as we thought someone had a vendetta against my son.

Nothing came of it and things died down.

Later that year it all started again and we found several more people in Timbercroft having the same problem.

There were varying thoughts as to who might be behind this misdemeanour and no thought was of foxes.

A week later an officer came to see me and said they had found the culprit.

He said they had known for a week or so, but did not want to get egg on their faces until they had concrete proof.

That week Timbercroft made page 3 in the Daily Mail with the news foxes were the cause of the brake failures. A photo of a broken cable with teeth marks all along was printed.

The officer also informed me that CCTV footage in North London had caught a fox in action.

I had heard that foxes had been rounded up in an over populated area and relocated to our region.

The officer explained they had involved vets in the analysis for proof and not only do the foxes have a taste for the rubber, the Glycol in brake fluid works like an aphrodisiac at certain times of the year. The advice I was given is to use Jeyes Fluid around areas where foxes are known to be causing a problem.

They do not like it and although it does not solve the problem completely it does help.

I am fed up with clearing up fox poo and have scattered around my garden pretty mugs that have developed a chip or crack, with Jeyes Fluid therein to help deter them.

My thoughts are that we should seriously be thinking of reducing the numbers of foxes, maybe using some sort of birth control.

Extend child rate time

It is not acceptable that the Epsom and Ewell Council is penalising young people by still not offering a child rate for use of the Astroturf pitch at Court recreation ground.

After trying to book a game for my son and his friends, I received an email from the council stating the only discount for juniors is between the hours of 8am to 3pm, Monday to Friday.

This means that only those playing truant from school will qualify.

Councillor Jan Mason wrote to this paper in July, objecting to one parent's complaint.

Coun Mason claimed that the full range of charges is available on the council website, which it is not, and we have never been informed that the fees are unreasonable.

I have been told the current charges will be reconsidered at a committee meeting in January, taking into account customer and resident complaints.

If, like me, you believe that the council should be encouraging all children to play sport by setting child rates during weekends and after school, please register your opinion by emailing the council.

The development of the Astroturf pitch was paid for by public lottery money as part of the 2012 Olympics legacy to increase mass participation in sport.

As such, we should be encouraging young people to use it by introducing child fees and keeping them as low as possible.

Cut parking fees to help business

I noted that, at the Epsom & Ewell Business Awards, one of national officers of the Federation of Small Business had came down to Epsom especially to present a certificate to borough council chief executive Frances Rutter for taking up their four weeks free Sunday parking for Christmas idea, pointing out it was a good thing for businesses, parking being a major issue.

Making parking affordable is something some residents have been pursuing for a long time.

This has met with an absolute refusal by the Residents' Association Party-run Epsom & Ewell Borough Council to look at ways to manage this. Perhaps the council will note the voice of businesses?

County residents need a living wage

On December 10 Surrey County Council will be voting on a motion, proposed by Labour County Councillor Robert Evans, that Surrey become a living wage county.

Surrey is a rich county and can surely afford to pay its employees a minimum of £8.80 as supported by the Mayor of London, Boris Johnson.

Even then life will not be easy. This equates to just £350 a week, barely enough to live on, certainly for a family in an expensive part of the world.

Under this Conservative Government, food banks are springing up even here in Epsom and Ewell – a sure sign of deprivation and need.

Surrey can make a statement and take a step in the right direction by adopting Robert Evans' motion.

GOING to the BALL

Cinderella shall go to the ball in Leatherhead this Christmas – oh yes she will.

This year's Christmas panto at the town's theatre will feature an array of favourite kids' stars, including Wendy Abrahams and Wink Taylor, from ITV's Sooty Show, who will be playing the roles of Cinderella and Baron Hardup, as well as their newest children's character Theo the Mouse.

Other stars will include Coronation Street actress Angela Webb, as the Fairy Godmother, and Phil Hoyles and David Pibworth as the Ugly Sisters.

Webb says: "I've played everything from the Wicked Queen to the Principle Boy in panto, but what better part than to be the one who waves her wand and gets Cinderella to the ball? I can't wait."

Theatre manager Sheila Francis says she was pleased with feedback from audiences who claimed last year's production of Aladdin was Surrey's best value pantomime and promises the same value for money this year.

She says: "We have some fantastic rates for schools and groups so there's no need to miss out on your chance to go to the ball."

● Cinderella; Leatherhead Theatre, 7 Church Street, Leatherhead; December 20 to January 1; adults £15.50, children, concessions £12.50; call 01372 365 141, visit theleatherhead theatre.org.

EL BALDINIHO

Ha-ha-ho

Head to Epsom racecourse for a night of laugh-out-loud gags washed down with a luxury meal and drinks.

The venue will once again host the HaHa Comedy Club after positive reviews from last year's audiences.

The evening will include a two-course meal and drinks and a 90-minute show featuring live comedy acts.

The funnymen set to appear include regular BBC Mock The Week guest Gary Delaney, who will be headlining on December 11, and Iain Stirling, on December 18, who has appeared on BBC's Russell Howard's Good News.

Supporting comedians include Mike Newall, Dominic Woodward, Lindsey Davies, Mark Cram, John Pendal and El Baldiniho.

Rupert Trevelyan, regional director of Epsom Downs Racecourse, says: "We launched the HaHa Comedy nights here at Epsom last year and had such a fantastic uptake and great feedback.

"We are very excited and proud to be able to host the festive event again, offering great value hospitality packages to complement a superb selection of new and talented comedians."

GO NATIVE

A medley of music acts will be bringing everything from soul and funk to Middle Eastern sounds, hip hop and jazz to an up-and-coming community cafe and bar, writes Alice Foster.

> "We're excited about making this a real hotspot for emerging soul and funk artists and music lovers alike"

Native Tongue, which started as a collective of musicians and street performers in 1999, has signed up a number of artists to run regular music nights starting this month.

Tristan Maguire, head of bookings, says: "It is exciting but also a bit nerve-racking. We have got Middle Eastern world music, funk and soul music, live jazz and a couple of blues sessions coming up."

Among the musicians are homegrown band Bullet-proof Bomb, who have recorded their debut EP and recently played at the House of Fun Weekender, and songwriter Latala who draws on her Lebanese heritage for Arabic-influenced sounds and melodies.

Ruby Egau and Danny Vice, a Brighton duo known as Frank Greene, hope to showcase the "truest, most genuine and downright sexiest" funk and soul from the South.

Egau says: "Native Tongue's soul night is our baby and we're really excited about making this a real hotspot for emerging soul and funk artists and music lovers alike.

"We live and breathe this music so it only seemed natural to take it one step further and run a night in which we can perform and showcase artists in the area."

The singers, who run Ared-r Productions, will perform on their first night along with funk and soul band Little Triggers.

Another bi-monthly soul night will feature New Zealand soul band Very Tall Stories along with other London, Kiwi and Australian bands.

Epsom's Realistic Rock Academy and North East Surrey College Of Technology (Nescot) have also signed up for monthly nights.

Native Tongue is also currently preparing for the opening of a new flagship venue in London's Soho.

Give us a RING

Ring in the festive season with sparkling tunes, old and new, courtesy of a top team of handbell ringers.

The Wandle Ringers will be in town to entertain audiences with songs played on their Whitechapel handbells – from arrangements of classic and pop music to original compositions.

The 20-strong group, which is celebrating its 25th birthday this year, started life as an evening class, the South Norwood Belles, using a small 12-set of American handbells.

Over the years it has grown and performed on television with the likes of Jools Holland and at the Houses of Parliament, as well at a whole host of venues across the South East and London.

The concert will be held in aid of the mayor of Epsom's charities – the Sunnybank Trust, MERU and Epsom Phab.

HOUSE SALE

The nights are getting darker, there is a frosty chill in the air and you are down to your last tenner having blown the lot on Christmas presents, writes Lauren May.

At this time of year you would be forgiven for wanting to batten down the hatches and hibernate until March.

But there is no need to let a lack of cash spoil your party plans this winter when you can invite a party hostess to do the entertaining for you all in the comfort of your own home.

The at-home party format has gained huge popularity in recent years with big companies like the Body Shop, Neal's Yard and Jamie Oliver all getting in on the action.

However, most will recognise the now ubiquitous Ann Summers party as the first to kick-start the trend.

The idea is simple – book a party, invite your friends over and welcome a trained consultant into your home who will arrive laden with goodies to host an evening of sociable shopping, demonstrations and games.

And the best part is the host's time is completely free.

While there is no obligation to buy, free gifts for the hostess and tempting samples can make it an attractive way to spend an evening.

Neal's Yard Remedies, specialists in organic beauty products, are just one company cashing in on the trend with the number of consultants rising by 100 per cent since 2011 with 7,000 employed across the UK.

Shelby Foord, an independent consultant for south-west London, says: "I love partying in the run up to Christmas. The atmosphere is amazing."

Whether you are a keen cook or beauty queen there's something for everyone, so banish the winter blues today and get partying.

Plan your own at-home party: ● The Body Shop: thebodyshop.co.uk/athome/athome_hostaparty.aspx ● Neal's Yard: uk.nyrorganic.com/shop/corp/area/have-a-party ● Jamie Oliver at Home – jamieathome.com ● Ann Summers – annsummers partiesuk.com

Try before you buy: Bring the shopping to your doorstep with a company's party hostess

TAKE STOCK

NATIONAL BANGERS MICRO MADNESS

● Wimbledon Stadium, Plough Lane; December 8, 5.30pm; £6-£15 on the door.

If the flashy world of Formula 1 leaves you cold, the simpler thrills of stock car racing might get your motor running, writes Chris Baynes.

An import from the USA in the 1950s, the sport sees mostly recycled, customised cars – from touring cars to banger vans to everyday hatchbacks – hurtle around greyhound and speedway circuits.

While much less glamorous than limelight-hogging motorsport behemoths such as Formula 1 and Moto GP, stock car racing has a cult following of fans who turn out weekly to watch battle-scarred chariots flung around the track by drivers who all race in their spare time.

It is that lack of pretension that draws spectators to the sport, according to motorsport journalist and lifelong stock car racing fan Michael Burnage.

He says: "When I came to the sport I realised it was like the best kept secret.

"With stock cars, drivers are approachable and you even see them helping each other. In this day and age, when everyone is out for themselves and everything is so harsh, there is an innocence to it and there is a comradeship between the drivers that maybe you don't get in other sports where money has taken over."

Stock car driver Gavin Botfield, 36, believes the variety of the sport also appeals to fans.

He says: "There are loads of different types of racing, from no contact to close racing to banger racing, which are completely different.

"It is obviously very different from Formula 1 but you have still got to be quite skilful. A lot of time goes into it but the buzz going out on to the track is like nothing else."

Botfield works for the aptly-named Spedeworth Motorsports, one of the UK's biggest stock car promoters which holds races at Wimbledon Stadium and seven other venues.

He says: "Anyone who has never been to racing before and is half interested, Micro Madness on December 8 at Wimbledon will be brilliant.

"We've got 150 cars competing and I'd be very surprised if there are more than 10 left at the end."

Meet her Majesty

Queen Victoria is gracing Ewell with her presence and sharing the Christmas traditions of her time.

Bourne Hall Museum Kid's Club gets the chance to meet Her Majesty and hear all about the 19th century days when Father Christmas wore green.

Museum assistant David Brooks, who runs the clubs, says: "What the Victorians did is what we do now, with the Christmas trees and cards and all of the traditions. They formed the basis of what we do now and it's very interesting.

"It was incredibly popular last year and I think it should be as popular, if not more so this year."

Locals opt for larger family new-build homes

The local housing market is buoyant, with families keen to move up the ladder to larger homes.

That's the view of the Leatherhead-based independent developer Shanly Homes, which says it has seen a rise in interest from Kingswood families looking to upsize to new-build homes within the village.

Shanly Homes is currently developing four sites in the local area. These include:

■ Manor Place – a development of 16 four, five and six bedroom houses and six apartments in St Monicas Road. Just four homes now remain for sale in this development. A spokesman for Shanly Homes said: "Manor Place has been very popular with local families looking to upsize but stay close to transport links into London. The homes have been popular given their spacious room sizes, added extras such as utility rooms, and provision of much-needed storage space.

■ The Pippins – This is a development of a six bedroom and a five bedroom house, in Furze Grove, a private road.

■ The Grange – a development of six five and six bedroom houses in Hazelwood Lane. These larger homes cater for modern family living while reflecting the traditional design of existing homes in the village. They offer the space which families need, with accommodation set over three to four floors. All homes have landscaped frontages and driveways.

David Huggett, managing director of Shanly Homes, said: "At the moment, customers are telling us Kingswood really is the place to be, but it's even surprised us that the vast majority of the properties have been bought by families already living in the village.

"It shows the local housing market remains in a healthy state and that families have a growing confidence in making the decision to upsize."

"A recent review of sales data highlighted that almost all of the homes have been sold to existing Kingswood families seeking to upsize into five and six bedroom properties.

"Customers are saying Kingswood offers a great quality of life and that new-build has given them the extra space, quality and peace of mind they needed without compromising on the location they love. "

Sealed bids used to find serious buyers

Weeding out time wasters

Some sellers are now asking for sealed bids in order to get the best price for their property from serious buyers with the necessary paperwork in place.

That's according to the National Association of Estate Agents (NAEA) which is giving tips to would-be buyers unfamiliar with the process.

Jan Hÿtch, president of the NAEA, said: "Sealed bids are often used when interest in a property is high, and it is likely that more than one party could and would wish to purchase.

"Buyers often think that if the property goes to sealed bids, the highest bidder will win, but inviting bids doesn't mean the highest offer always secures the property.

TAMASIN COATES
property@london.newsquest.co.uk

"The process involves assessing all the information available to find the buyer that has demonstrated the strongest and most reassuring ability to proceed and complete a sale without any trouble. In order to have the best chance of succeeding in this situation, buyers will need to be well prepared in advance with their finances and paperwork all in order."

The NAEA offers some advice on how to make a sealed bid.

You need to be open about your situation and ability to purchase, and present your offer demonstrating your commitment and ability to exchange quickly.

Your bid will not only be considered on the amount, but on how likely it is that you will complete without any problems.

Including a list of things that you already have in place such as a reputable solicitor or conveyancer, a mortgage-in-principle letter from your lender, and a surveyor on standby, will all demonstrate how serious you are in securing the property. This can make your bid more attractive, even if it isn't the highest.

To avoid ending up making the same bid as someone else, try using unusual numbers like £200,103 instead of £200,000. This can sometimes make the difference between a successful bid and a tied situation.

KINGSWOOD £1,490,000

Kings Walk House is one of the earliest known houses on the Kingswood Warren estate, dating back to the 1920's, from whence this beautiful family home obtains its charm and natural character. The house sits back from the entrance of its own private drive and commands a central position on the flat and secluded corner plot of approximately 0.8 of an acre. Internally it has all the proportions of a house of its era, with high ceilings and many other features, not least of which is the archway front door. The house has plenty of opportunities to either improve or enlarge, subject of course to local authority planning consent.

KINGSWOOD £845,000

Built to an exceptionally high standard and specification by Anwick Homes, a developer that focuses on quality over quantity, Church View measures some 2400 sq ft. and is a spacious 5 bedroom detached home with light and flexible accommodation over 2 floors.

WALTON ON THE HILL £1,295,000

Believed to have been built in the 1970's The Gate House sits on a plot that measures approximately half an acre on one of the most sought after private roads in Walton on the Hill village. The property is available with vacant procession, would benefit from refurbishment and possible further extension.

TADWORTH £765,000

Situated in a small cul de sac close to the heart of Tadworth Village, we are delighted to offer what we believe is one of the best 5 bedroom detached houses available in the Village. The current owners have both enlarged and improved the property to an extremely high standard.

Departures from September 2014 will spend two nights in Niagara Falls, one in Toronto and three in Montreal. The available excursions and included elements will largely remain the same.

This wonderful scenic journey, one of our most popular escorted tours, takes in the very best of Eastern Canada, with visits to a quartet of stunning cities, journeys through some breathtaking scenery, through wide-open spaces under 'big skies', and has as its most memorable highlight a visit to one of the world's most awe-inspiring natural wonders, the plunging Falls at Niagara.

Your journey will begin in Ontario's warm and welcoming waterfront city of Toronto, with its labyrinth of interconnected shopping malls, elegant historic buildings and, most famously, the sky-piercing needle of the CN Tower. From here the spectacle of Niagara is a short drive around the lake, before you take to the Maple Leaf Trail proper, heading north to Canada's historic capital Ottawa, then further east into French Canada, journeying to glorious Montréal, stylish Olympic city, and finally to picturesque Québec, capital of French Canada, and where the New World still resembles the Old.

With four-star accommodation throughout and travel by comfortable touring coach in the company of our friendly Tour Manager, who will bring to life this extraordinary part of the world, your journey along the Maple Leaf Trail is one that you'll never forget.

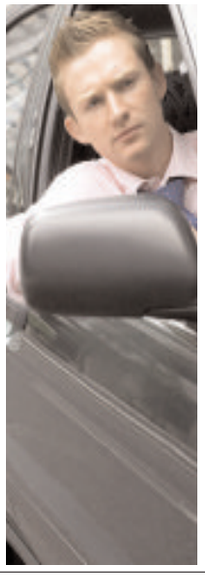
GHOSTBUSTERS target rogue brokers

Motorists are being duped, says AA car insurance



'Ghost' car insurance brokers have become a spectre that is thought to cost the insurance industry tens of millions of pounds every year, leaving thousands of drivers without cover.

AA car insurance says that its own fraud team blocks up to a dozen attempts to obtain car insurance by suspected 'ghost brokers' – criminals who sell 'cheap' fraudulent car insurance policies – every day.

AA Insurance has welcomed a new industry initiative to raise public awareness of the phenomenon, including an animated video warning motorists, especially young drivers, about being ripped off by fraudsters selling fake car insurance.

Ghost brokers tend to be IT literate and understand the insurance industry well.

Their scams are sophisticated and can be difficult to identify but insurers, including the AA, are making significant strides to stop them.

No one knows how many policies that appear legitimate are ghosted. When they do come to light, the 'broker' will have disappeared into thin air while their customers are left with insurance cover that is no more than an apparition.

Ghost brokers typically advertise cheap, no-quibble insurance on social websites or forums where particular groups are targeted – hard-up students, drivers with convictions, drivers newly arrived from overseas or ethnic groups for whom English isn't the first language.

Policies are typically bought by ghost brokers from legitimate providers but with altered details and false contact information for the customer.

They may be paid for using false or stolen credit or debit cards, sometimes issued by overseas banks, while the buyer may be asked to pay cash.

AA Insurance said that the industry 'ghost busters' are getting better at identifying criminals but the challenge is stopping the ghost brokers before the transactions are completed.

ANTICIPATION BUILDS

When Nissan's all-new mid-size SUV, the Qashqai, goes on sale in January, prices will start from £17,595 and rise to £27,845. Buyers will have a choice of four trim levels.

Nissan's engineers have also done much to improve the car's green credentials, with the result being an engine line-up spanning the 99g/km to 132g/km CO2 range.

Entry-level Visia cars benefit from a generous amount of kit, including auto air-conditioning, hill start assist, cruise control and a large colour infotainment screen.

Acenta-badged models gain the likes of dual-zone air-con, leather for the steering wheel and gear lever, larger alloy wheels and a tyre pressure monitoring system.

Moving up to the Acenta Premium grade adds digital radio, a rear-view parking camera and sensors, a panoramic sunroof, keyless ignition and lane departure warning. The flagship Tekna models add all-round parking sensors, part leather seats, LED headlights, a seven-inch infotainment screen and 19-inch alloys.

A pair of petrol and diesel engines will be available from launch, all boasting fuel-saving stop-start technology

SHELLY MOTORS advertisement feature

LADIES NIGHT draws big crowd

Kia dealership Shelly Motors hosted a highly successful Ladies Evening at its Epsom showroom recently. Over 75 guests attended the event in support of Cancer Research UK.

Andrew Shelly, dealer principal of Shelly Motors Kia, said the company was delighted by the response.

"The aim of the event was to enable female clients to ask any question they may have without being talked down to," he explained.

As a well-established Kia dealership with sales and service, the experienced team at Shelly Motors is always happy to offer advice on vehicle safety, tyres and roadworthiness.

The Ladies Evening at the dealership in Felstead Road, Epsom, offered friendly advice from various experts including personal safety and understanding your car better, to the latest in-car technology. Every client was able to enjoy personalised demonstrations and interactions, including some pampering and fun.

Mr Shelly added: "I would like to thank all of my team who all worked incredibly hard in preparing for the event and making everyone feel so welcome. Special thanks to Sainsbury's Epsom, Steven Rowe and team, Linda, Lisa and Louise."

Feedback included: "Just loved the motto for the evening, cars aren't just for men! Warren's demo was a hoot." "Really glad we came, came away with great tips to keep me mobile!" "What a warm, family atmosphere." "I will definitely service my car here from now on and share what I have learnt with my friends." "We would definitely come again, had a great time and feel so much more confident about what to do in case of emergency." "It was really informative. The team did a fantastic job!"

Over £300 has been raised so far with all proceeds going to Cancer Research.

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.
3. The advertiser further confirms that:
   i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
   ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
   iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.
5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.
6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.
9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). Hirst leads the Predatorz home

The GBMAA Predatorz – featuring stars from Epsom and Leatherhead – brought home medals from the KWON English Open last weekend.

Brooke Reynolds won the points -25kg title, while Ellen Michael won in the -60kg points and weapons.

Six-year-old Joseph Hirst, pictured, was triumphant in his -20kg points category.

Chief instructor Linvell Taylor added another title to his list of accolades after winning his points +85kg category.

Brady has his long, long story

After eight games in four weeks, Richard Brady was in forgiving mood when his Leatherhead side lost 2-0 at Folkestone Invicta.

The Tanners had started the weekend top of Ryman Division One South, but after Saturday's defeat, they are now fourth and facing the visit of Herne Bay this weekend.

But from seven league games in November, they have picked up 16 points, something Brady will happily take.

"It has been a long, long month, and at Folkestone we looked tired," he said.

"At this level, if you are off your game you will get punished and Folkestone were lucky enough to catch us off it.

"We were patched up, not in terms of players, but in terms of our physical state."

He added: "But as a manager I will take five wins and a draw from seven games.

"We have a Surrey County Cup match in midweek, but a lot of players will be rested and hopefully come back refreshed for the weekend.

"We have respect for Herne Bay although they will probably come for a draw, and we'll have to work round it."

Parsons: Our current form is far from grave

by TIM ASHTON
tim.ashton@london.newsquest.co.uk

Sutton & Epsom coach Jeff Parsons is taking the silver lining from their heaviest defeat in London Division One South so far, and is hoping for a swift turnaround.

Sutton went to promotion-chasing Gravesend on Saturday looking to bounce back from defeat at home to leaders Chichester the weekend before, but they returned on the back of a 41-3 thumping.

However, Parsons was proud of his men's efforts, and had the unusually off-target boot of Sam Hurley been in the zone, the result could have been different.

This weekend, Sutton host third-placed Brighton with Parsons expecting a reaction.

He said: "Gravesend were a huge side. They were relegated from National League Three last season with 45 points, so they are probably feeling a bit hard done by that.

"But they are definitely a team preparing for promotion, and it is a measure of what we are up against near the top of the table."

He added: "The lads were a bit despondent after the game, but they're strong and they will bounce back.

"We're a work in progress, we're looking to consolidate our place in London One South this year, and maybe even next, and then take the next step.

"So this is a big learning curve – and the fact it could have been different but for the little things is pleasing."

Parsons is still without the services of skipper Matt Whitaker (neck), Mike Blakeburn (hand), Phil Williams (foot) and Austin Sheppard (foot), which did not make life easy in north Kent.

"We had all the possession and territory in the opening 20 minutes, but Hurley missed three easy kicks.

"They got a try out of a charge down, so out of nothing really, followed by a quick penalty.

"Then we had a great scoring opportunity, which was ended by a deliberate knock-on. So from being possibly 16-0 ahead, we're 10-0 behind.

"From then on we were always chasing the game, and doing things we would not normally do."

He added: "This weekend's game against Brighton is massive, we've lost two on the bounce so we could do with a win."

Big miss: Matt Whitaker's continued absence from the Sutton & Epsom line up is causing much consternation

SPORTS*brief*

BIATHLON: Epsom District Swimming Club's Fred Geen, 13, representing City of London Freemen's School, won the individual U14 bronze medal at the Surrey School's Biathlon Championships in Crawley, coming fourth in the swim and third in the run and thereby qualifying seventh for the British Modern Biathlon Championships next year. Geen swam one minute 5.87 seconds for 100m freestyle swim, and 5:24.99 for the 1,600m run. He has also qualified for the British Schools' Modern Biathlon Championships in April.

ATHLETICS: Peter Mills led home a nine-strong Tadworth AC contingent at the annual Pirie 10-mile cross-country race at Farthing Down, Coulsdon, finishing 12th of 118 runners in one hour one minute 50 seconds. Next to finish were Dave Williamson (14th in 1.02:15), Mark Todd (44th in 1.10:25), and veteran Geoff Newton (63rd in 1.14:00), who was placed third in the men's over-60 class. On the road, John Melbourne was 13th at the Kingston 10K, clocking 37:35.

NETBALL: Epsom-based the Downs netball team are five points clear at the top of the Premier League standings after a nail-biting 40-39 win at Team Bath Toucans on Sunday. They host Oaksway this weekend, ahead of the Christmas break.

ATHLETICS: After two matches, the Epsom & Ewell Harriers U11s A team lead the Epsom Downs cross-country league. Oscar Harvey-Nash, Daniel Gordon and Alex Imam finished in the top 10 to set the Harriers on their way.

HOCKEY: Epsom's season is in danger of falling away completely after a 4-1 defeat at Havant saw them drop to sixth in Hants/Surrey Division One – Alex Pizzey's consolation was the only highlight. Epsom were unbeaten in the opening four games of the season, but now they have gone five games without a win. They host Winchester this weekend.

BOXING: Daniel Morley, 16, of Epsom & Ewell Amateur Boxing Club takes on John Stokes in Durham tonight [Thursday] for the class A NABC title in the 70-75kg group.

Bonus for Counts who make their points

Old Walcountians took a big step in avoiding relegation from Surrey One thanks to a 29-22 win over fellow strugglers Old Paulines.

Saturday's win, only the Counts second this term and their first with a bonus point, lifted them above Old Paulines and level on points with seventh-placed Old Whitgiftians.

Despite finding themselves 12-0 behind, the Counts rallied when Fred South kicked their first points of the day.

South was then on hand to converted the first of two Tom Naylor tries.

The score of the day belonged to Will Diamond, who left the Old Paulines defence in his wake for a try converted by Ben Davies.

And Davies would be accurate again when James Tutton added to the scoreline.

The Counts are at Old Freemens this weekend.

Nomads joy

It was a case of here come the girls for Epsom-based Nomads as they beat KV 17-12 in the National Korfball League.

The win in Kent lifted Nomads into fourth spot, with up to two games in hand on the teams above them.

Head coach Dave Butters said: "KV's strength is their boys and so I deliberately set out to stop them from scoring.

"I knew they would try to do the same to us and so I told the team this was a match that was going to be won by our girls.

"Excellent team work and great passes meant that this tactic worked.

"For me, this performance has been our best so far this season."

Next up is struggling Croydon at Epsom College on Sunday.

Salts keep on

Epsom & Ewell's pursuit of the leaders of the Combined Counties Premier Division continues after a 4-0 home win over Mole Valley SCR on Saturday.

The Salts, in third and with one game in hand, are 10 points behind top dogs South Park.

Two goals from James Cottee, pictured below, and strikes from George Murphy and Ben Hayward did the job for the hosts.

The Salts go to Colliers Wood United this weekend – United are struggling at the wrong end of the table.
